TROPICO CITY ATTORNEY GIVES OPINION ON SUIT CLUB

Mr. A. J. Van Wie, Editor and Publisher Tropico Interurban Sentinel, Tropico, Cal.:

In accordance with your request of recent date made to me, I herewith submit to you my opinion relative to the operation in Tropico of what is known as the "Tailor Suit Club," as outlined in your issue of May 12, 1915.

I assume the facts to be as follows:

The proprietors of this suit club engage and undertake, for a certain consideration to be paid each week, to distribute a suit of clothes or an overcoat among its subscribers once each week. I am informed that each subscriber, upon paying the consideration, is entitled to a chance on this suit of clothes or overcoat; that drawings take place and the question of which subscriber is entitled to the suit of clothes or overcoat is determined by chance or lot in these drawings.

In my opinion such a scheme is a lottery as covered by the provisions of our penal code.

Section 319 of our penal code defines a lottery as follows:

"A lottery is a scheme for the disposal or distribution of property by chance, among persons who have paid or promised to pay any valuable consideration for the chance of obtaining such property or a portion of it, or for any share or any interest in such property, upon any agreement, understanding or expectation that it is to be distributed or disposed of by lot or chance, whether called a lottery, raffle, or gift enterprise, or by whatever name the same may be known."

It has been uniformly held in this state and throughout the United States that any scheme by which, for a valuable consideration, one may, by favor of the lot, obtain a prize of the value superior to the amount or value to that which he risks, is a lottery; that any scheme whereby one who, paying money or other valuable thing to another becomes entitled to receive from him such a return in value, or nothing, as some formula of chance may determine, is a lottery. (Bishop on Statutory Crimes, Sec. 952; American Cyclopaedia.)

"A lottery embraces or is a scheme in which a valuable consideration of some kind is paid, directly or indirectly, for a chance to draw a prize." (Yellowstone Kit v. State (Alabama), 16 Amer. St. Reports, 38.)

"It is not essential that the prizes be paid in money, but may be paid in property or merchandise." (Fleming v. Bills, 3 Oregon, 286; Bell v. State, 5 Sneed, 507.)

It makes no difference what name is given to the scheme; "a rose by any other name would smell as sweet; a thorn by any other name would prick as deep." When the element of chance enters in the distribution of prizes it is a lottery without reference to the name by which it is called. (Dunn v. The People, 40 Ills., 467.)

There can be no question, from a study of the authorities in this state and in other states in the United States, but what the scheme under discussion is a lottery.

Having a lottery, the next question arises as to what remedy or recourse may be had against the operators thereof in our community.

Sec. 320 of the penal code provides as follows: "Every person who contrives, prepares, sets up, proposes or draws a lottery is guilty of a misdemeanor."

Sec. 321 of the penal code provides: "Every person who sells, gives or in any manner whatever furnishes or transfers to or for any other person, any ticket, chance, share or interest, or any paper, certificate or instrument purporting or understood to be or to represent any ticket, chance, share or interest in or depending upon the event of any lottery, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB HOLD LAST MEETING OF THE YEAR

With the annual luncheon held June 17th, at the G. A. R. hall, the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club closed a successful year, full of interesting programs and earnest work along many lines. More than seventy-five members and friends were seated at the tables, which were prettily decorated with pink carnations and a delicious three-course luncheon was served. The gracious hostess of the occasion was Mrs. J. Herbert Smith, ably assisted by the following ladies: Mrs. Wesley Bullis, Mrs. A. J. Becker, Mrs. Hal Davenport, Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, Mrs. Thomas Gaither, Mrs. Frank Peters, Mrs. F. G. McKenney, Mrs. H. P. Goodwin, Mrs. C. H. Woolsey and Mrs. C. M. Goode.

During the luncheon Miss Cora Hickman, in a happy little speech, presented to the president, Mrs. Chas. A. Barker, a silver baking dish as a token of the club's appreciation of her loyalty and untiring efforts during the two years she has been the chief executive officer. Mrs. Barker thanked the club for the beautiful gift and pledged herself with the co-operation of the members to lead the club to broader lines of culture, philanthropy and civic interests, as she has been elected to succeed herself.

The following delightful musicale was then given in the auditorium by these well known artists:

Aris—"Cavaleria Rusticana".....

Mascagni.....

Miss Helen Beatrice Cooper, Soprano

(a.) "Spring".....Leschetzky

(b.) "Arabesque".....Leschetzky

Miss Millicent Virden, pianist

"Swan".....F. Farns

"Air G String".....Bach

Mr. Ferdinand Rigali, violin

"A Birthday Song".....Fred Cowen

"Somewhere a Voice is Calling".....Tate

Miss Helen Beatrice Cooper

"Forest Murmurs".....Liszt

Miss Millicent Virden

An arm bouquet of pink carnations was presented by Mrs. H. E. Bowman to each one of these popular musicians.

Dr. Russell gave a bright and interesting talk on the meeting of the state federation of women's clubs, held at San Francisco.

A short social time followed and the business meeting was called to order by the president, with the officers of the club on the platform.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, and approved. Then followed the annual reports, and it was learned that Mrs. H. E. Bowman, the efficient chairman of the program committee, and her associates had provided for eighteen club meetings, and had been fortunate in securing a number of fine speakers.

Mrs. Dwight Griswold, as chairman of the Civic Committee, reported the pencil sale for the benefit of the playground, which netted over $40.00, and the interest of this committee in the municipal playgrounds caused the club to vote to pay $30.00, the salary of the director, for one month.

The philanthropic work of the club is a very important feature and with Mrs. Chas. Finley as chairman has been able to be of much service to others. Families have been supplied with groceries, rent has been paid, medical care and medicine given the sick, forty children were given presents at Christmas and fifteen families supplied with baskets of food, five maternity cases received the best of care and outfits were provided for five babies; nine children have been clothed during the year and kept in school; many grown persons have been supplied with clothes and this devoted committee has done a multitude of other things. It is never weary of well-doing.

The Ways and Means Committee, under the able leadership of Mrs. Wesley Bullis, has raised $367.68 by vari-

BUY IT NOW!

The war dogs rant and snarl and pant, they tear and howl and gnaw;
The beasts accursed can't slake their thirst, or satisfy their maw.

Because one-half the world is daft and in a frenzied fit,
There is no cause through natural laws why we should copy it.
The jingoist has failed to list your uncle in the fray;
We've other work we cannot shirt—we're busy making hay.
If every lad would boost like mad, and freely spend his tin,
You'd grin to see how merrily the wheels of trade would spin.
The factories' din would soon begin if every son of Adam
Would go downtown and buy a gown and send it home to madam.

That baby grand that you had planned to buy the last of May,
Go down the street before you eat and order it today.
Go buy it now that pan or play, that firearm or that missal,
That suit of clothes, that pair of hose, those furs, that new tin whistle;

That wire cot, that house and lot, those stockings for the kiddies;
That sealskin sacque, that new bootjack, those diamonds, neckties, middies;

That feather bed, that spool of thread, that motor car or cow
That you had meant some time to buy, go, friends, and BUY IT NOW!

GREATEST OFFER OF CAMPAIGN ANNOUNCED IN THIS ISSUE SHOULD BE READ VERY CAREFULLY

The most important period of the campaign is now at hand. Those who get into the field early and do the pioneering shall be amply rewarded. The Sentinel realizes that those who do the pioneering in any campaign have the hardest work. Therefore the Sentinel will give a bonus amply large to fully compensate those who are first to pass the word along that they are in the great Sentinel-Press voting campaign to win—to be there at the finish.

Until Saturday evening, July 3, the Sentinel will give a bonus of 500,000 bonusvotes, over and above the regular schedule, for each ten dollars in subscription money turned into the campaign manager.

Isn't that incentive enough to get busy?

This is positively the biggest offer that will be made during the campaign, and is intended as a reward to those who become active campaigners at an early date.

Those who carry the word of the campaign to their friends and acquaintances at this date are the real pacemakers, and deserve credit.

At no other time during the campaign will subscriptions or renewals count as much as they do now. This is the time to make the most of your opportunity. Those who run up a good score before July 3 will have accomplished much. It is the period when effort will count for more than at any other time. Make the most of it.

Is your name in the list?
Are you one of those in line to win the splendid Chevrolet touring car, or the much to be desired full-year course in the widely known Von Stein Academy of Music?

Are you going to be one of those to view the astounding beauties of the San Francisco or San Diego expositions? Are you going to walk away with a business college scholarship in the wonderfully efficient Mackay

THE LOS ANGELES-GLENDALE BOULEVARD ASSOCIATION

(From a recent issue of the Los Angeles Times).

"One of the most interesting public improvement projects now being considered in Los Angeles is the proposed 'air line' automobile boulevard between this city and Glendale. The plan, which is being advocated by an organization known as the Los Angeles-Glendale Boulevard Association, is attracting a great deal of attention and has been endorsed by leading civic bodies. Its proponents claim for the scheme that it is one of the most feasible and inexpensive highway enterprises of really major importance ever launched in Los Angeles and its vicinity.

"Following, as it would, the lines of dedicated streets from the northern end of Lake Shore avenue to the edge of the Los Angeles river, the proposed new highway link, it is pointed out, could be created without the necessity for expensive condemnation proceedings for a right of way. The cost of grading and paving, it is declared, would not be excessive by comparison with other projects of similar nature. Even the proposed bridging of the river to carry the highway to the end of Brand boulevard south of Tropico could, it is asserted by the proponents of the plan, be accomplished without great expense.

"By way of practical benefits to be derived, it is shown that the route would mean a saving of about 10 per cent in the distance of automobile travel between a large part of Los Angeles and the Glendale district, that it would bring the lower end of the San Fernando Valley and the beautiful Verdugo Canyon and La Crescenta regions miles nearer to the city and that it would make Griffith Park really accessible to the public. Those working for the boulevard also call attention to the fact that the proposed connecting link between Lake Shore avenue and Brand boulevard would pass through the beautiful wooded hills back of Silver Lake, thus giving Los Angeles a splendid new scenic drive at little cost."

"The idea of a direct boulevard from Los Angeles to Glendale is not a new one. The project was strongly advocated two years ago in connection with the plans then maturing for the improvement of Lake Shore avenue. Later, when proceedings were instituted to extend Brand boulevard on southward from Glendale through Tropico, the advisability of bridging the river and carrying that fine thoroughfare on through to Lake Shore avenue was urged by many.

The newest movement has come at a particularly opportune time. Lake Shore avenue has, since the last agitation for the through route, been widened and paved as far as Effie Street. From Effie street north to the point where it ends abruptly in the Edendale hills, Lake Shore now has a width of 140 feet, from property line to property line, and is perfectly level. Proceedings have already been started for the paving of this part of the thoroughfare.

"At the other end of the proposed new highway route the progress southward of Brand boulevard has been equally marked, the city of Tropico having extended that broad travel artery through its limits to the northern boundary of Los Angeles several months ago. The far-seeing owners of the Angelus Park, Angelus, Atwater and Glenhurst residence tracts just within the northern confines of Los Angeles are now doing the rest. These owners, pooling their interests, have dedicated a 140-foot right of way to carry Brand boulevard straight south through their holdings to the edge of the river and are now putting in paving, curbs, sidewalks and electroliners at their own expense.

"Brand boulevard, when completed, will end at a point on the north bank of the river directly opposite Ivanhoe station. The carrying out of the new highway project, therefore, involves in the first place the construction of a bridge paralleling or dipping under the railway trestle of the Pacific Electric's Glendale line, and in the second, the establishment of a suitable communicating roadway between Ivanhoe station and the northern end of Lake Shore avenue.

CRAZY MEN IN HISTORY

By William C. Anderson

A glance at history will show that the men who did big things are the men who were looked upon as "crazy." Those who were responsible for great men being so branded were the "doubters"—men who insisted on facts while they themselves were without foresight or imagination. Thomas was one. He said, "Except I be shown, I will not believe." Thomas was shown.

Festus spoke in a loud tone when he said, "Paul, thou art beside thyself; much learning doth make thee mad."

To write of men of more modern times will eliminate the idea that this is a sermon. Sermons should appear in Monday papers and not in a paper that happens around about the time the week begins to fade and when pay day holds our interest.

Columbus is a good one to start with, for he was branded by more men than any other as being the craziest. He must have been so considered for the reason that the wealthy and learned citizens of Genoa, Venice and Lisbon said so. Columbus met with no less a personage than King John of Portugal, and the meeting proved that even kings fall with a thud when action is necessary. John said, "Take him away; he speaks in a strange tongue."

It took a woman—the gracious queen of Castile—to grasp the possibilities that Columbus set forth. She realized he was sincere and, above all, not crazy. Men—many of them—the great thinkers and profound reasoners they have always claimed to be—said he was crazy.

Cornelius Drebbel, the Dutchman, was looked upon as being on the verge of insanity when he proposed a submarine boat to be propelled by oars. James I saw it done on the River Thames. Emperor William is proving that the Dutchman had a very substantial head.

Samuel Pierpont Langley, the American scientist and astronomer, was probably the greatest "bug" of recent times. Samuel received $5,000 from the United States Government to experiment with heavier-than-air machines. Naturally the government became moon-struck also. That's what the papers said. Langley finally became the subject of more ridicule than any man that ever lived. For a climax, he fell into the Potomac river and the papers opened up more barrels of red ink. They all said he was crazy. Wright Brothers are sane. They have made Langley's machine fly.

George Westinghouse, inventor of the air-brake, was a "blamed fool." At least that is what the head of a great railroad company said about him. Westinghouse later built the great generators at Niagara Falls. The head of the railroad company has since recovered his mental balance.

The most recent man to be denounced as crazy and held up to ridicule is Henry Ford. Mr. Ford actually faced the mob and listened to a scene of jeers. He is listening to it yet. He listened while he pushed his little horseless joke along the streets of Detroit.

He pushed it because the thing wouldn't work and because it wouldn't work the mob snickered. It works now. But he couldn't convince a lot of mental boobs that it would, so they said he was crazy.

From dark times, the world has progressed spiritually, commercially, and every other way, and the advancement can be credited to men who were pronounced crazy. The big things have been set to the music of the spheres by "crazy" men who couldn't wait for the wise men to grow mentally big enough to grasp little ideas that seemed big.

Had the world waited for the wise and sane men to advance ideas, and to conceive thoughts, and to look far into the future, it would be waiting yet, and we would be living in holes in mountain sides, and chasing wild beasts, and killing fish, and fussing with totem poles, and placing our dead away in trees.

When small heads are bombarded with big ideas, they rebel and the only word they can telegraph to the vocal organs is, "crazy."

Many of the (so-called) crazy men in history were astronomers. Newton was one, Langley was one, and there were countless others. They were men who were not appalled by the greatness of the universe. They spent their time looking into and at big things, while the ones who called them crazy were peeking through cracks in the sidewalk and probably wondering what was on the other side of the earth.

Grabbing big ideas would seem to be a better business than chasing them away and filling history with "crazy" men.

CHICKEN FIXIN'S

What Should be the Limit

The big burning question of the hour at the City Hall is concerning the size and locality of poultry pens. In the opinion of Health Officer Mabry they should be excluded entirely from residential sections of Tropico because of their injurious sanitary and scenic effects. In reply it is urged that they are necessarily so. That a yard of 150 chickens on the rear of a 50-foot lot is not necessarily more unsanitary or unsightly than a pen of 50 chickens on the rear of a 50-foot lot. That the one is just as ornamental as the other. That there is just as good a chance for the "practice" of the cult of the beautiful in the one or the other.

With the Board the question presents an entirely different phase: Can it rightfully deny the owner of the lot the use of his property for a pen of chickens of any number, as long as thereby he does another no injury? That the measure of damages from a neighboring chicken pen cannot be determined from the number of chickens it contains.

Sec. 322 of the penal code provides: "Every person who aids or assists, either by printing, writing, advertising, publishing or otherwise, in setting up, managing or drawing any lottery, or in selling or disposing of any ticket, chance or share therein, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

Sec. 325 of the penal code provides: "All moneys and property offered for sale or distribution, in violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, are forfeited to the state and may be recovered by information filed or by an action brought by the attorney general, or by any district attorney, in the name of the state. Upon filing of the information or complaint, the clerk of the court, or if the suit be in the justice court, the justice must issue an attachment against the property mentioned in the complaint or information, which attachment has the same force and effect against such property, and is issued in the same manner as attachments issued from the district courts in civil cases."

Any debts contracted by contract, written or oral, for weekly payments, or installments, under such a scheme are invalid and unenforceable, and any payments made thereunder heretofore may be recovered in an action for that purpose.

There is no question in my mind whatsoever but what the scheme, as outlined above (assuming the facts to be as above stated), constitutes and is a lottery and is punishable as such. Trusting that this covers the point upon which you requested my opinion, I am very truly yours, ous entertainments, which adds materially to the clubhouse fund.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB MEETING

The Courtesy Committee, with Mrs. J. H. Webster as chairman, has constantly remembered with flowers and messages the ill ones in the club.

Mrs. Wayland Brown, as chairman of the Literature Section, spoke of the rare treat given under the direction of her section to the club in the lecture of Prof. Clarke of Chicago University on "Shakespeare and the Human Heart."

Home Economics, Mrs. H. P. Goodwin, chairman; Legislation, Dr. Jessie Russess, chairman; Music, Mrs. C. M. Turck, chairman, have all had interesting and helpful section meetings during the year.

Financially the club was shown to be stronger than ever, as Miss Ida D. Myers, the treasurer, reported a total in the treasury for the year $1,181.23, and a balance of $201.37.

A lot was bought in the Stepper tract and a payment of $500 made on it, and also most of the shares of the Tropico Library Building Association have been bought by the club and the others will be as soon as presented. There is a hopeful outlook for the clubhouse, which is greatly needed.

Rev. Smith and A. J. Van Wie, representing the Tropico Chamber of Commerce, were guests and asked the club to assist in arranging for a float in a parade to be held in the city. The club is always anxious to help Tropico so the chair appointed Miss Cora Hickman, Mrs. A. L. Bancroft and Mrs. C. H. Woolsey as the committee.

Miss Hickman, the vice-president, spoke of the good programs of the year, a few of which stand out more prominently perhaps than the others. "Some of the Beauties of the Pan-American Exposition," Mrs. Randall Hutchison, Art Chairman, Friday Morning Club; "The Art of Living," Miss Lloy Galpin; "Birds of California," Mrs. Harriett Williams Myers, secretary State Audobon Society. (Stereopticon illustrations); "Musical," Miss Millicent Virden; the splendid talk by Dr. Kate Walter Barrett, national president Florence Crittendon Homes; "Home Industry and Home Prosperity," Mr. Arthur W. Kinney, industrial commissioner, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; "Need of Women in Our Courts of Justice," Mrs. J. A. Barton.

The president spoke of Miss Hickman as one of the contestants for the automobiles to be given by the Glendale Daily News, and the club voted to assist Miss Hickman in every way possible.

The new officers were then presented to the club: Mrs. C. A. Barker, president; Miss Cora Hickman, vice-president; Mrs. J. H. Webster, second vice-president; Mrs. H. P. Goodwin, recording secretary; Mrs. C. H. Woolsey, corresponding secretary; Miss Ida D. Myers, treasurer.

The president announced the following chairmen of standing committees: Program—Mrs. W. C. Mabry. Hospitality—Mrs. J. Herbert Smith. Civic—Mrs. E. V. Bacon. Philanthropic—Mrs. Hal Davenport. There being no further business the club adjourned until fall.

TROPICO WATER SUPPLY

City of Tropico for the use of said city and its inhabitants for their domestic, irrigation and fire protection purposes. A total of 1370.50 shares in a flow at the present time of 200 miners' inches of water, the equivalent of one million four hundred and twenty thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and 4/10ths (1,420,934.4) cubic feet per month, sufficient for 1400 services at 1015 cubic feet of water each, and to yield a revenue at the minimum rate of $1.25 per month per service of $1750 a month or $21,000 a year; or at the minimum rate of 75 cents per service per month, a revenue of $1050 a month, or $12,600 a year.

The Title Guarantee and Trust Company is engaged in the business of serving this flow of water to the City of Tropico and its inhabitants. It is a gravity flow and the Company is at no cost for its production. By its verified statement the Company's cost for the service, including interest on $27,000 claimed as its investment in the service plant, does not exceed $5700 per annum.

As the Company has been at no expense for repairs, extensions, improvements, upkeep or betterments, all costs therefor having been met by the city and collections from rate payers, its profits have been quite satisfactory.

Respectfully submitted,
NELSON C. BURCH,
City Clerk City of Tropico.

BOULEVARD ASSOCIATION

avenue and Brand boulevard, now form a real, though hardly serviceable link in the proposed new direct route to Glendale. The principal of these streets, Ivanhoe avenue, branches off from the northern end of Lake Shore avenue and extends northward to the upper end of Silver Lake reservoir, where it runs into Rowena avenue. Rowena, under the plan in contemplation, would be used as far as Rockaby avenue. Rockaby, in turn, would serve as a right of way on to Ivanhoe station at the south bank of the river.

"Those who have gone carefully into the plan declare that but four or five cuts of any size would be required to give the mile and a half of roadway comprising the three communicating streets a grade suitable for the purposes of ordinary automobile travel. At no point, it is declared, would the grading have to be as extensive as that in some of the deeper cuts of Sunset boulevard.

"The association that is working for the boulevard is preparing to ask the city and county of Los Angeles and the cities of Glendale and Tropico to unite in the construction of a bridge the cost of which is estimated at from $20,000 upward. It is argued that the benefit would be general rather than merely local in view of the number of city streets and county highways that would be provided with direct outlets from all into Los Angeles, Glendale and Tropico, through the creation of the proposed new route.

Distance Saver

"There are at the present time only two serviceable automobile routes between downtown Los Angeles and the Glendale-Tropico-Burbank district, and both of these follow round-about courses. One route leads westward out Sunset boulevard to Vermont avenue, north on Vermont to Los Feliz avenue, and eastward again on the last named highway to Brand boulevard, making a drive of nearly nine miles. The other course lies out North Broadway to avenue Twenty and thence by San Fernando to Tropico, with a distance of close to eight miles.

"The proposed direct route would bring the traveling distance between Los Angeles and Glendale down to about five miles, according to those who have made a study of the project.

"A corresponding reduction would be made in the distance by automobile between Los Angeles and all points now reached by way of Glendale, including Burbank and the lower end of the San Fernando Valley, Verdugo Canyon, Montrose and La Crescenta and the Eagle Rock Valley. The new boulevard would also afford a brand new route to Pasadena by way of Eagle Rock.

Scenic Highway

"As a scenic highway, the portion of the proposed Los Angeles-Glendale route lying between Lake Shore avenue and Brand boulevard would have a charm all its own. Ivanhoe avenue extends through hills, covered with giant eucalyptus, and skirts the shores of Silver Lake Reservoir, the city's largest and most beautiful body of water. The beauty of this particular region will be still further enhanced when the thousands of trees planted by the park commission all over the sloping hills around the lake have attained their growth.

"Rowena avenue strikes a level grade through rolling green hills and rows of eucalyptus trees. Rockaby avenue dips down through groves of huge live oaks to the river's edge. Tree studded hills form the setting for Woodstock avenue from avenue station to Griffith Park.

"The first step in the formal launching of the proposed inter-city boulevard project was taken last week when the association, as a preliminary to definite action, asked the city council of Los Angeles to erase the names Ivanhoe, Rowena and Rockaby avenues from the maps and to call the three under the single name of Glendale boulevard. At a meeting held last Thursday the association voted to petition the council at once to build a bridge from Ivanhoe station to the end of Brand boulevard. Estimates of grading and paving costs are now being prepared for submission to the council by Mr. Veselich."

EDITORS OF THE NATION TO VISIT SOUTHLAND

Editors from all over the United States will be guests of the southland for three days beginning Tuesday, June 29, the date for the opening of the National Editorial Association convention in the old Normal School building in Los Angeles. The "big stunt" for the visiting scribes will be a mission barbecue at Inceville, the big moving picture plant near Santa Monica. Not only will the visitors have a great feed, see a real wild west show and be entertained generally, but will have opportunity of meeting the governor of the state and four mayors of this section who will have part in the program.

The County Press Association, the Southern California Editorial Association and the Los Angeles Press Club, which includes many county editors in its membership, will have charge of the entertainment.

Harlan G. Palmer, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Southern California Press Association, is superintending the arrangements to make pleasant the stay of the editors. The newspaper men's special train from Chicago is scheduled to reach Los Angeles Monday evening, June 28, after stops in the orange belt cities. The editors will visit both fairs before returning to their homes.
